Make your first big step a good one. With Ryder training.

Some people weren't cut out to be cooped up.

Maybe you're one of them. You want to climb the Big Rig Ladder. And Ryder Technical is where you start your climb.

By the time you've completed your training course, you will know what it is like to swing up into a big rig cab like this one. Show it who's boss. Make those 855 cubic inches of raw diesel power behave, with a lot of gears to tame them.

Your Ryder Tech course begins with home study lessons, learning the rules of the road, safety regulations for different types of cargo, drive trains, transmissions, braking systems.

Then you move on to the real thing at a Ryder Training Center. We put you through three tough weeks of driver training, on the driving range and on the road. Backing. Docking. Coupling. Doing reverse serpentines. Then taking the big rigs out on the Interstate.

You got what it takes to take on the big rigs? Over 20? Good driving record? In good physical condition? Then fill out the coupon today and let's talk it over. If you're a veteran, great! Ryder Technical Institute is approved for veteran's training.

If you want to climb the big rig ladder, start with the pros at Ryder.

FLASH FLOOD

STORY: MIKE PELLOWSKI
ART: JIM HANLEY

Captain Salty was a very special toy. He was a sailor doll with magic powers. The Captain had feelings just like a real person. He had the power to walk and talk whenever he wanted to. He'd received his amazing powers from a toy maker who was a retired magician. Some of the magician's magic rubbed off on Captain Salty when he was sewn together. Captain Salty was an adventurous toy. He liked excitement and danger. He was always on the lookout for thrilling ways to have fun.

Captain Salty was owned by a little boy who lived in the country. The little boy also owned a toy motor boat and a scale model, Yankee Clipper ship. Captain Salty was officially the skipper of both vessels. Whenever the little boy took a bath; Captain Salty piloted the clipper ship. Whenever the little boy wanted to play in the brook near his house; Captain Salty piloted the toy, speed boat. Sometimes, on summer afternoons, the little boy played in his wading pool. Whenever the boy played in the wading pool both of Captain Salty's vessels put to sea.

It was a summer afternoon and Captain Salty was guiding his Clipper ship across the plastic, wading pool. The toy motor boat was tied to the end of the Clipper ship with a string. Suddenly, dark clouds blocked out the sun. Thunder rumbled and lightning flashed. It started raining very hard. The little boy jumped up and ran into his house to get out of the rain. Since Captain Salty was a seasoned sailor; the little boy left him floating on his ship in the pool.

Bad weather didn't frighten the brave captain. He looked up at the black sky. He saw lightning streaking through the heavens. "It looks like we're in for quite a storm. I'd better put on my bad weather gear," he said. Captain Salty put on tiny boots and a miniature raincoat and cap.

Big drops of rain were splashing into the wading pool. Waves splashed across the Clipper ship's deck. The water rose higher and higher. The wind was howling. Captain Salty's ship rocked up and down. It required all of his strength to hold the ship's wheel steady. "I hope this rain stops. If it doesn't, we're going to have a flash flood." said Captain Salty.

The rain didn't stop. The water in the pool was so high that it overflowed. The front lawn was flooded with rain water. Water was spilling over the edge of the wading pool just like a waterfall. It took all of Captain Salty's sailor skill to guide his ship safely over the waterfalls and onto the flooded lawn.

Suddenly, the Captain heard someone yelling for help. He saw a mother field mouse. The mother mouse and her two children were hanging onto a floating twig. "Help us! We can't swim!" called the mouse. "I'll be right there!" answered Captain Salty. The Captain anchored his Clipper ship near an elm tree. He ran to the back of the ship and slid down the rope connected to the toy, speed boat. He hopped behind the speed boat's wheel and wound up the spring engine. He untied the string and raced towards the flood victims.

The motorboat zoomed over to the floating twig. Captain Salty stopped the boat and stretched out his hand to the mice. "Climb on!" he called. The three soggy mice scampered onto the boat. When they were safely aboard the Captain started the engine again. He drove back to the Clipper ship. He parked the speed boat alongside the larger vessel. He helped the three mice climb onto the Clipper ship's deck.

"My other baby isn't here! He must be stuck in our house near the rosebushes! screamed Mama Mouse. "I'll save him. Don't worry," advised the Captain. He hopped back into the motorboat and drove over to the rosebushes. "Help! Help!" he heard someone scream. He looked around and saw a tiny mouse splashing in the water. The swift current was sweeping the little mouse towards the brook. If the Captain didn't act quickly, the little mouse would be lost forever. Captain Salty dove into the raging, flood waters. He swam towards the struggling, baby mouse. He grabbed the tiny mouse just in time. "Hold onto me," ordered the Captain.

The mouse wrapped his arms around Captain Salty's neck. The Captain used all of his strength to overcome the swift current against him. He reached the speed boat and pulled the baby mouse on board. Captain Salty and his water-logged friend zoomed back to the Clipper ship. When the Mama Mouse saw her baby, there was a happy reunion.

LOU'S PIZZA

YES, MASTER. FIRST I EAT LUNCH.

IF THAT ROBOT DOESN'T START MAKING MONEY, WOTASNOZZLE, YOU'LL BOTH BE KICKED OUT!

STOP WORRYING, SAPPO.

OIL IS VERY VALUABLE. MAC, I WANT YOU TO DISCOVER OIL!

OFF

ON

CRASH!

AFTER MY ROBOT DISCOVERS OIL, YOU CAN BUILD A NEW HOUSE!

HE DISCOVERED OIL, WOTASNOZZLE... A WHOLE TRUCKLOAD OF IT!

PUT ME DOWN!

PUT THE OIL DOWN, MAC!

THAT'S IT, WOTASNOZZLE! MR. MAC HINE'S GOTTA GO!

I WAS TIRED OF THE ROBOT ANYHOW, SAPPO!

RENT MONEY, WOTASNOZZLE, OR OUT YOU GO!

WHAT WILL I INVENT NEXT?

END.
